Dear Parents & Guardians,

Be our guest, be our guest,

Put our service to the test ...

In case you weren't aware, Beauty & the Beast is here! The matinee was very impressive—especially after dealing with the loss of last Sunday's and Wednesday's full dress rehearsal cancelations. The weather hasn't been helpful but performers and volunteers are making it work! We have so many volunteers to thank (especially alumni parents who came back to help!) I need to give a shout-out to our two producers—Harriet Matthews and Michelle Keebler for all of their hours of hard work on this. They have done an amazing job!

Our school will practice building security in January. In the next few days, our staff and students will practice a lock-down drill. This year, officers from the SBPD may be also be joining in the walk-through. This could be useful information for you in case your child wants to talk to you about it. Our teachers will be discussing protocol with their students before the drill happens.

Finally, can you believe we are past the half-way point of the school year? Our mid-year report cards will be sent home in two weeks. We're taking a little extra time since the district is reworking through a new Student Information System. We appreciate your patience on this.

Have a great Beauty & the Beast weekend; take some time to read with your child.
